

TRAIL TIP:

Old Indian Tricks may or may not work. Maybe you have to be an Old Indian to be sure.

That is an “Old Indian Trick”

Old Indian Trick/or How Long Until Sunset?

I have heard that this is "an old Indian trick." Place your hand on the horizon, each finger between the sun and the horizon is 15 minutes until the sun sets.

Most likely that Old Indian Trick works fairly well.

I have however, heard of others, that may be more folklore than not. For example, my great-grandmother tied knots in a string [depending on how many warts you wanted removed] and threw it away. Warts reportedly fell off of the patient. Don't think she was Indian on that side of the family, more like superstitious as well as of European descent.

Lots of remedies are simply Traditions or Stories handed down from generation to generation. You most likely have heard a few of these "stories" from your grandparents as well. Some of the remedies or solutions work well [like the sunset time] while others do not work so well [like the wart removal method].

Indeed, some discernment/understanding is necessary to know if an Old Indian Trick is legit or not.

Today in the 21st Century it is easier to figure out which Old Indian Tricks have more merit. However, seems that people are still having trouble with figuring out what is accurate truth about God and what is traditions and stories.

We can be certain however, of the Bible, God's Word.

Luke 21:8

And he said, Take heed that ye be not deceived: for many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and the time draweth near: go ye not therefore after them.

John 14:6

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.

No matter what the crowd tells you; the Bible is still the truth. You can count on that.
